WOODSTOCK NEWS

Pathfinder Car Here.

A big White automobile, the pathfinder of the trade extension tour of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, stopped at the Inn Wednesday. H. L. Dillingham is arranging the itinerary, and his car is covering the route to be followed by the Boston business men who will arrive in Woodstock Thursday, June 13, and remain over night at the Inn.

Mr. Dillingham estimated the number which will be in the party at 60 or 70, and there will be 15 or more cars.

The trip, he says, is not only to allow Boston business men to get acquainted with possible consumers and buyers, but also to get acquainted with the resources of the country.

In the party will be many men distinguished in the business world. Among those who have announced their intention of coming are J. H. Hustin, second vice president of the New York Central; W. M. Lowney of chocolate fame; Major C. W. Roby, general manager of the New England division of the American Express; J. A. McKibbin, secretary Boston Chamber of Commerce; General Hugh Bancroft, director of the port of Boston; O. M. Fisher, vice president of the Packard Shoe Company; W. F. Farley of Farley-Harvey Company; G. McAuliffe and E. E. Roy, bankers, and J. S. Hathaway, New England manager for the White Automobile Company, who furnished the pathfinder.

Children's Day Services.

The morning hour at the Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow will be given up to "The Children's Hour." The annual offering for the student loan fund will be taken.

At the Congregational church tomorrow the Children's Day service will take the place of the regular morning worship, beginning at 10:30. A brief address will be given by the minister and the ordinance of baptism will be administered to several children.

BASEBALL.

Woodstock High plays Lebanon on Vail field this afternoon at 3 o'clock. This is the last game of the season.

Woodstock High was defeated by Randolph High at Randolph last Saturday afternoon, 3 to 2, in an exciting game. Woodstock played a fine fielding game, but Brady was hit rather hard. Pitcher Bruce was the star of the Randolph team.

Lightning and High Wind.

Lightning made a radiant and noisy show around the village during the thunder storm Tuesday afternoon, striking here and there with much power and penetration.

A cow owned by Charles May, pastured near the River street cemetery, was killed by a bolt which struck the tree under which she was standing. O. A. Whitcomb's cow had sought the same unsafe shelter and was bowled over, but escaped a deadly shock, and hasn't been confined to her stable even for a single day.

A pair of horses were killed by lightning in Plymouth the same day. Their owner, A. D. Messer, was driving them, but he was not seriously hurt.

A high wind during Sunday afternoon's rain snapped off part of a big maple in front of Mrs. L. B. Marble's house. A large maple which fell across the highway just above Bridgewater Corners held up a Woodstock automobile and the party had to saw its way through it.

Death of Rev. C. M. Southgate.

Rev. Charles M. Southgate of Boston, brother of Mrs. Frances S. Dana and Frederick C. Southgate of Woodstock, died at his summer home at Bass Rocks, Gloucester, Mass., on Tuesday. While preparing for a drive that morning he was taken ill and passed away at noon.

Mr. Southgate was born at Monroe, Mich., in 1845, the son of the Rev. Robert and Mary Frances (Swan) Southgate. He was graduated from the Ipswich high school in 1861; Phillips Andover, 1862, and received the degree of A. B. from Yale in 1866.

For a year he was principal of the Woodstock High school, and he then entered Andover Theological Seminary, was graduated in 1870 and ordained to the ministry of the Congregational church. His first parish was in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

In 1875 Mr. Southgate was made pastor of the Congregational church in Dedham. In 1884 he resigned to go to Pilgrim Church, Worcester. His last charge was at Abundantdale, from 1895 to 1905. Since then he had been superintendent of the Massachusetts Bible Society.

He is survived by his wife, who was Elizabeth Anderson, of Woodstock, and three children—Hugh McClellan, who has a high position with the Westinghouse Electric company; Isabel, (Mrs. Guy Riddell) of Helena, Mont., and Stuart, who graduated from Yale this month.

Funeral services were held at Bass Rocks Friday and the body will reach here this morning at 9 o'clock for interment in River street cemetery.

Progressives Rally Again.

The publicity department of the Windsor County Progressive Republican league is remarkably weak, as two poorly attended rallies here in a week tend to show. The first one, with Mr. DeBoer and a military band, was especially strong on speakers and music, but owing to some misunderstanding it was not well advertised. The second rally was held last Tuesday evening and escaped general notice for the same reason, and less than 200 people gathered at the hall. Vice-President Franklin M. Barney of Springfield presided, and at the business meeting preceding the speaking was elected president of the league to succeed Hiram W. Johnson. John J. Wilder of Plymouth was elected vice-president.

Col. John H. Minnis of Burlington was the first speaker, taking the place of Walter E. Hubbard of Brattleboro, who was unable to be present. Colonel Minnis urged the nomination of Mr. DeBoer for governor, presenting him as emphatically the man for the place, and touching on national issues praised Roosevelt as his candidate for the presidency.

Rev. Fraser Metzger of Randolph followed, speaking of the strength of the progressive movement and its aims; he made a strong appeal for good government, and he spoke eloquently in behalf of DeBoer and Roosevelt.

McCullom-Ewing.

The New York Sunday Sun of June 2 has the following account of a wedding of interest here. Mr. McCullom is a nephew of the late Dr. Ezra McCullom of Woodstock, and is an occasional visitor here. The bride has also been in Woodstock several times.

Miss Marion Ewing, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Alexander Ewing, was married to Harold C. McCullom, son of the late Dr. William McCullom of Brooklyn, at the home of her parents, 134 West Fifty-eighth street, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. Wilton Merle-Smith, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, was the officiating clergyman. Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present for the ceremony, which was performed beneath a bower of white peonies and marguerites.

The bride was given away by her father. She wore a gown of white satin trimmed with family lace, also a veil of old lace which was held by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and natural orange blossoms.

Miss Marjorie Stuart Baird was the maid of honor. Her costume was of pale pink charmeuse veiled with lavender chiffon, over which was worn a coat of white lace. She wore a white leghorn hat trimmed with pink roses and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Dr. William E. McCullom of Brooklyn, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

After the ceremony there was a reception in the ballroom of the Hotel Gotham.

DAY FOR GRANGERS.

At South Pomfret June 13—Congressman Plumley One of the Speakers.

A field meeting and basket picnic will be held at South Pomfret next Thursday, June 13, under the auspices of Connecticut Valley Pomona Grange, and a big day is promised for every body.

Among the speakers will be Congressman Frank Plumley; Hon. Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., master of the National Grange, and Hon. C. F. Smith, master of the Vermont State Grange. There will be other good speakers, and good music.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

Henry Ward Beecher, in speaking of a funeral that he attended in his boyhood days, said it seemed so good to get back home and go out into the barnyard among the cows and other animals, where "things seemed natural."

We think our good brethren need a "getting back home" from the political brain storms they are passing through, and we hope our "old-time social visit" at Pomfret Center, on June 21, may prove as refreshing to them and make as lasting an impression, as did the barnyard scene on the mind of the Rev. Beecher, in days gone by.

Please be determined to leave all your politics at home.

The Lord reigns!

June is here!!

Let us be glad!!!

Perry-Webster.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Perry was prettily decorated Wednesday evening for the marriage of their daughter Mildred, to Volney Webster, son of Ira Webster of East Barnard. Rev. E. R. Phillips of Woodstock performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate relatives of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Webster left for Middlebury after the ceremony, and after a wedding tour they will reside in East Barnard, on the farm owned by Mr. Webster's father. The young couple are active members of Teago Grange, Mr. Webster being master and his wife secretary.

The postoffice has been removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Boynton.
Mrs. Albert George and child stopped to give their horse a drink at the stone trough at the foot of Barnard hill Thursday. Mrs. George alighting to unluck him.
